VIKKI LUNA

Taste & See

Our alumni group is truly a treasure.

Their unity, love, and support for one another—and for the new women entering recovery—is inspiring. Each month, they gather to fellowship and enjoy fun, sober activities. Recently, they came up with a beautiful idea: a cookbook filled with their favorite recipes. But it's more than just great food—it also includes a heartfelt letter from our founder, listing each woman's name and sobriety date. Want to support their monthly gatherings? Buying a cookbook is a wonderful way to do that. Just call the office to make your purchase and join in the encouragement.

Growing Them Up Good!

As part of our educational program, the women not only study core subjects like healthy relationships and relapse prevention—they also gain valuable life skills. Pictured here is Marissa, one of our young women who, at 26, is learning to “adult” for the first time. She's been working, saving diligently, and just completed her driver's education. Soon, she'll take her driving test at the DMV. The emotions that day were overwhelming—excitement, fear, joy, anxiousness—you name it. We stood outside cheering, celebrated with her, and shared the moment on Facebook. Stories like Marissa's are common among the women God brings to us. What made her day extra special was a “God wink”: her dream car is bright yellow, and the instructor showed up in a bright yellow vehicle. It was a sweet reminder that God sees her. Walking alongside these women as they grow in confidence and faith is a daily blessing.
